ANDY Corporation Expands Ontario Platform Through Acquisition of JDW International and JMS Warehousing

Montreal, QC, March 18, 2026 – ANDY Corporation (“ANDY”), a leading Canadian transportation and logistics group, is pleased to announce the acquisition of JDW International and JMS Warehousing, two Ontario-based companies specializing in asset-based transportation and industrial warehousing services.

The acquisition provides immediate access to fleet of over 60 trucks, over 200,000 square feet of indoor industrial warehouse space, and 9 acres of outdoor storage across four facilities, including customs-bonded warehousing near the Blue Water Bridge corridor, one of Canada’s most strategic cross-border trade gateways. The addition enhances ANDY’s geographic coverage and creates operational synergies across its dedicated transportation, warehousing, integrated logistics, and fleet management divisions.

“This acquisition represents an important step in our long-term growth strategy of diversification and disciplined expansion. By strengthening our capabilities across transportation, warehousing, and integrated logistics, we continue to build a scalable platform focused on delivering long-term value and resilient supply chain solutions that go far beyond commoditized and transactional freight services” said Andreea Crisan, President & CEO of ANDY Corporation.

JDW International and JMS Warehousing will continue to operate under their existing leadership teams, ensuring continuity for employees and valued customers by maintaining their established presence in the region while benefiting from ANDY’s broader infrastructure, network, and resources.

This transaction reflects ANDY’s ongoing investment in building a strong, scalable, and integrated transportation and logistics platform across key North American markets as supply chains become increasingly complex.
